- Learn what Family Advocacy does and how they can support your family
- Hear how one family member has used advocacy strategies to achieve a good life for their family member.
- Gain ideas, strategies and a strong framework to undertake advocacy in the future
- Connect with like-minded others in your community to share ideas

Taking action for a good life* will explore the basics of why and when to speak out, and provide families with advocacy strategies they can practice and build upon.

Family Advocacy is an independent and impartial advocacy organisation that works with families across NSW to promote and defend the rights and interests of people who have developmental disability*

The organisation is managed and staffed by parents and allies of people with disability who recognise the issues families face and who can assist in strengthening the advocacy of families.

*Developmental disability is a disability that occurs in the developmental period of a person's life (in the period from conception to adulthood) and includes intellectual disability, cerebral palsy, spina bifida, autism, and any combination of physical, intellectual or sensory disability.
