There are no quick or easy solutions to planning for the future of your family member with developmental disability*, however there is much you can do now.

The workshop will cover:

- Importance of vision and whole of life thinking
- Who to involve and ways to involve others
- Planning tools and scaffolding for families
- The legalities of planning for the future of a person with disability
- Hear from a family sharing how they are looking to the future of their family member

This will be a great opportunity for others in your family such as siblings and cousins to come along to the workshop and be part of the thinking around the best future for your family member

Family Advocacy is an independent and impartial advocacy organisation that works with families across NSW to promote and defend the rights and interests of people who have developmental disability*

The organisation is managed and staffed by parents and allies of people with disability who recognise the issues families face and who can assist in strengthening the advocacy of families.

*Developmental disability is a disability that occurs in the developmental period of a person's life (in the period from conception to adulthood) and includes intellectual disability, cerebral palsy, spina bifida, autism, and any combination of physical, intellectual or sensory disability.
